

Call for Applications: Community Based Organisations (CBOs)

Request for Proposals (RFP2) for Community Based Organisations (CBOs)

The GBVF Response Fund<sup>1</sup> is a part of a national response to gender-based violence and femicide (GBVF) in South Africa. The Fund has been set up to galvanize action around the GBVF National Strategic Plan (NSP). Led by an independent Board of Directors, the Fund is a private sector-led initiative that aims to consolidate, ensure a consistent and coordinated approach in response to GBVF in society and the world of work.

The Brief

The GBVF Response Fund announced a request for proposals (RFP) for Community Based Organisations (CBOs) in 2023 which received an overwhelming response from CBOs. The selection process for the 2023 RFP is in the final stages and the results will be announced in the coming weeks. The current call for applications is meant to ensure sufficient coverage by GBV hotspot, province and specific thematic areas and/or target groups as well as provide resources for capacity development purposes.

It is upon this basis that the GBVF Response Fund is extending an invitation to eligible community based organizations (CBOs) actively involved in the implementation of initiatives that are aligned to the GBVF NSP. The current Request for Proposals (RFP2) encourages a broad spectrum of CBOs to engage in the ongoing efforts to combat GBVF in alignment with the NSP.

Eligibility Criteria:

Alignment to NSP Pillars as follows:

1. Accountability, coordination and leadership
2. Prevention and rebuilding social cohesion
3. Justice, safety and protection
4. Response, care, support and healing
5. Economic power

The Fund will continue prioritization of CBOs with an expanded programming focus:

1. Organisations working in rural, peri-urban, informal settlements, under-resourced and marginalised areas;
2. GBV hotposts
3. Scale up with the aim of intensifying GBVF prevention efforts particularly through evidence-informed and evidence-based interventions.
4. Intersectionality to address multiple forms of violence. For example, addressing the intersections between GBV Against Women and GBV Against Children (VAW/VAC), GBV and disability; GBV and HIV, etc.
5. Intergenerational approaches to break the intergenerational cycle of GBV, intervene early among children and elevate the voices of children, youth, etc.
6. Organizations working with vulnerable and underserved groups such as Persons Living with Disabilities, sex workers, LGBTQI+, etc.
7. RFP1 performance against set targets and outcomes.
8. Capacity development including institutional strengthening for CBOs.
